

Our vision for History at The Henry Moore School

Intent

- To develop our learners' knowledge of people and events across different eras of history
- To develop independent thinkers who can use historical artefacts to build a picture of the past
- To inspire our learners' curiosity about the past
- To encourage our learners to examine, compare and review sources of historical information and evaluate its validity
- To develop our learners' interest in their local history and encourage them to celebrate their local community and its origins
- To encourage our learners' to question events from the past and communicate their ideas confidently
- To allow our learners' to make links between past events and the present day

Implementation

- Our learners will be provided with a range of historically accurate sources to explore
- Our learners will be given time to explore, question and discuss sources of information
- Our learners will have regular opportunities to organise events through history and see the chronology of different historical periods
- Our learners will have the opportunity to visit local places of historical interest
- Our learners will be provided with memorable activities, events and people to engage with

Impact

- Our learners will think like historians and be able to discuss people and events using a range of historical terminology
- Our learners will have a secure understanding of key historical events both locally and globally
- Our learners will be able to generate a timeline of historical events
- Our learners will recognise the impact key historical figures have made to our lives in the present and how they could influence the future
